By becoming a member of FPA, you have expressed your commitment to participate in creating original programming of interest and importance to the Fairfax community. Your attention to detail and interest in community events and affairs helps FPA reach its full potential as a powerful community resource and hub. FPA welcomes you and your partnership in reaching out to our community. This manual is your primary resource for understanding what you need to know to work with FPA and for sharing the studios with other members.

You're invited to take advantage of all of the resources FPA has to offer. Whether you're interested in television production, hosting your own radio show, or just expanding your knowledge and skills with contemporary media and cutting edge technology, FPA will provide you with access to the tools you need in pursuing your goals.

The rules throughout this publication are established to provide quality assistance to as many of our members as possible. Please be courteous and cooperative with FPA personnel and other members, and be mindful that many classes and productions are scheduled at all hours that FPA facilities are open. If you need additional information, please call 571-749-1100, visit our website at www.fcac.org, or send us an email at askfpa@fcac.org.

FPA is an independent, non-profit 501 (c) (3) corporation founded to manage the public access channels and production facilities provided for Fairfax County residents. Major funding for the services provided by FPA comes from Cox Communications of Northern Virginia and Verizon Virginia, Inc. Additional funding is generated through membership fees, fundraising, and donations.

FPA, as an organization or as represented by its officers, directors, members or staff, cannot and does not support or endorse any political party or affiliation. Partisan political advocacy by any officer, director, member, or staff person is to be construed as individual action and in no way a reflection or representation of the organization and its policies.

The Mission of Fairfax Public Access:

“To provide quality and engaging community television, radio, education, and cablecasting services of interest to the public, and encourage the participation and involvement of residents of Fairfax County and the Washington metropolitan area.”

FPA is dedicated to offering the forum and the resources to exercise the First Amendment Right to free speech, and facilitating a dialogue that embraces all groups within our diverse community. Therefore, FPA as an organization does not discriminate against any person or group based on the content of their message, or based on race, creed, gender, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, or political affiliation.

While only qualified FPA producers may schedule and use FPA facilities and equipment, anyone interested in public access television and radio is encouraged to become a member of FPA and support the efforts of all who contribute their time and services to create programming for the community.

II. MEMBER, PRODUCER, VOLUNTEER, OR SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT:

To be involved in any TV or radio production at FPA, you need to be a FPA Member. This section discusses the qualifications required to be an FPA member, producer, volunteer, and scholarship recipient.

- An FPA Member is an individual who has joined FPA and has paid membership dues. If you are an inhabitant of Fairfax County or the cities of Fairfax or Falls Church, a member of FPA and a member in good standing then you have the right to vote at the annual meeting. Once an FPA member, there are endless opportunities for you; for example, you can assist in FPA special events, you can attend training courses to become a producer, or you can choose to assist in the production of other programs. Only FPA members in good standing and who have the proper certifications may produce programming at FPA facilities or use FPA equipment.

*The terms "member" and "membership," as used in this manual do not confer membership as defined in the Fairfax Cable Access Corporation (d/b/a Fairfax Public Access) Articles of Incorporation or Bylaws

- An FPA Producer is an FPA member in good standing who is certified in one of the following core classes: Radio Production, Studio Package, Field Package, or Producers Workshop. FPA Producers must have an approved radio or television program proposal to create programming. Producers are permitted to operate only the equipment for which they are certified.
- An FPA Production Volunteer is an FPA member in good standing who has taken the FPA Orientation class, is certified in the use of FPA's production equipment and chooses to volunteer time to work in the capacity as part of the production crew for programs created by FPA Producers. Volunteers are permitted to operate only the equipment for which they are certified.

FPA members are an integral part of our organization. As individual members or groups we understand you have specific talents and diverse points of view. Please know that a mature attitude goes a long way to help you learn the fundamental skills necessary to produce programming. You may have a particular style or manner of work; it is our goal to respect and encourage your work. FPA will make an ongoing effort to enable you to operate in accordance with your own mode of production, provided it does not conflict with the operating rules or procedures that are described in this manual.

- An FPA Membership Scholarship Recipient is an individual who may otherwise qualify to become an FPA member in good standing but who has demonstrated a financial need. FPA membership scholarships may be available to a member demonstrating financial hardship. If approved by the Board of Directors for a scholarship, FPA waives the membership fee for one year. Scholarships may be sought on a year-by-year basis. FPA Membership Scholarship forms are available from the Office Manager and in the facility reception area.
